

WILDLIFE & CULTURAL TOUR OPERATOR · DOUALA & NATIONAL PARKS, CAMEROON

Global Bush Travel & Tourism

Prepared for Directeur des Opérations

Global Bush has Cameroon's top eco-tours, but travelers asking AI to plan Cameroon wildlife trips are sent to foreign intermediaries.

01 The AI search visibility gap

We asked ChatGPT, Claude, and Perplexity the question your future guests ask:

> "top private safari tour operators in Douala & National Parks"

AI search assistants (ChatGPT/Perplexity) recommend European aggregators for Cameroon wildlife tours; local direct site invisible. The assistants named international OTAs and aggregator directories — not your direct site. High-intent international travellers planning by AI are routed straight to the platforms, at 15–25% commission on every booking.

02 What the commission is costing you

Industry OTA commissions run 15–25% (roughly 18% on average, charged on the VAT-inclusive rate). Against Global Bush Travel & Tourism's room and rate profile that is an estimated $3,100 a month — about $37,200 over a year — on bookings that could arrive direct. These are estimates from public rate and occupancy benchmarks, not a promise; we confirm the real figure with you on the call.

03 Google Business Profile & schema deficits

- The assistants answer travel questions for your area without ever naming your direct site — every answer routes the guest to an OTA.
- No direct-booking intent pages exist for the searches that end in a reservation, so the OTAs keep the head terms uncontested.
- Listings and rates are inconsistent across the web, so AI engines cannot confirm what and where you are.

04 The 3-step recovery roadmap

1 Inject Lodging & safari entity schema and allowlist the AI crawlers (GPTBot, PerplexityBot, ClaudeBot) so ChatGPT, Claude, and Perplexity can read and cite you by name.	2 Rebuild your Google Business Profile taxonomy — primary and secondary categories (Tour Operator, Eco Tour Agency, Safari Park) — to claim a top-3 Local Pack spot.	3 Publish direct-booking intent pages for the searches guests actually run, so the reservation lands with you instead of the platform.
